Contents of Volume 3

Latency of the blink reflex and stimulus intensity by E. O. Bixler, N. R. Bartlett, and R. W. Lansing (Vol. 2, pp. 559-560)
Erratum, 107

The effects of load variability in short-term memory task by S. M. Moss, J. D. Soward, and J. F. Hearns, 445

Effects of varying length of stimulus series and response scale upon response latency, response uncertainty, and transmitted information by L. L. Avant, W. Bevan, and Hilda Wing, 449

PSYCHOPHYSICS

A test of a two-stage model of magnitude judgement by D. W. Curtis, F. Attneave, and T. L. Harrington, 25
Erratum, 289

Some characteristics of psychophysical data obtained with a group version of the up-and-down method by J. F. Wohlwill, 54

Cross-modality matches between color and size differences by P. N. Strong, Jr. and Zita Tyer, 73

Discrimination of loudness similarity by J. Beck and W. A. Shaw, 105

Response bias in very first judgments of the reflectance of grays: Numerical versus linear estimates by E. C. Poulton, D. C. V. Simmonds, and R. M. Warren, 112

Cross-modal estimation of angular velocity by J. H. Brown, 115

Decision latencies of "same" and "different" judgments by D. Bindra, D. C. Donderi, and S. Nishisato, 121

On the general form of Stevens' law for loudness and softness by R. J. Irwin and M. C. Corballis, 137

Stimulus averaging and the context for judgment by A. Parducci, H. Thaler, and N. H. Anderson, 145

Time perception, vigilance and decision theory by G. Von Sturmer, 197

Tactile vibration: Change of exponent with frequency by S. S. Stevens, 223

Methodological examination of the PEST (Parametric Estimation by Sequential Testing) procedure by I. Pollack, 285

An experimental comparison of stimulus and response translated power functions for brightness by R. F. Fagot and M. R. Stewart, 297

A behavioristic analysis of Stevens' magnitude estimation method by T. Oyama, 317

Further studies on the psychophysics of irregular nerve action potential patterns by W. R. Uttal and Pamela Smith, 341

Sequential response bias in psychophysical experiments by W. A. Wagenaar, 364

On the new "psychophysical law": A validation study by M. Mashhour and J. Hosman, 367

Simultaneous visual detection and recognition by H. Munsinger and K. Gummerman, 383

Sequential effects in absolute judgments of loudness by M. K. Holland and G. R. Lockhead, 409

DETECTABILITY

Comparisons of some learning models for response bias in signal detection by M. P. Friedman, E. C. Carterette, L. Nakatani, and A. Ahumada, 5

ROCs obtained with two signal intensities presented in random order, and a comparison between yes-no and rating ROCs by D. S. Emmerich, 35

Effects of presentation probability and number of response alternatives on simple visual detection by J. Nachmias, 151

The probability-matching decision rule in the visual discrimination of order by T. E. Parks and M. H. Kellicutt, 356

Internal noise and transducer function in sensory detection experiments: Evaluation of psychometric curves and of ROC curves by J. M. Thijssen and A. J. H. Vendrik, 387

Further evidence concerning scanning and sampling assumptions of visual detection models by G. L. Wolford, D. L. Wessel, and W. K. Estes, 439

COLOR VISION

Saturation estimates and chromatic adaptation by G. H. Jacobs (Vol. 2, pp. 271-274)
Comment by L. M. Hurvich and Dorothea Jameson, 11

Luminance thresholds for the Bezold-Brücke hue shift by V. C. Smith, J. Pokorny, J. Cohen, and T. Perera, 306

BRIGHTNESS VISION

Binocular summation in the evoked cortical potential by N. R. Bartlett, R. G. Eason, and C. T. White, 75

Monoptic and dichoptic metacontrast by P. H. Schiller and Marilyn C. Smith, 237

The relation of phenomenal brightness reversal and re-reversal to backward masking and recovery by D. G. Purcell and W. N. Dember, 290

Note on Crozier's Neural-Availability theory by D. H. Raab, 407

FORM PERCEPTION

"Parts" of perceived visual forms: New evidence by J. H. McFarland, 118

A new theory to explain geometrical illusions produced by crossing lines by C. Chiang, 174

The psychophysical dimensions of similarity among random shapes by H. H. Stenson, 201

Distribution of practice and the Müller-Lyer illusion by R. E. Dewar, 246

Abstract: Structure in perceptual classification by S. Imai and W. R. Garner, 284

A computer program to generate and measure random forms by R. L. Knoll and H. H. Stenson, 311

Effect of temporal and spatial stimulus relationships in controlled perceptual learning upon disappearances observed under reduced stimulation conditions by R. C. Tees and Linda K. More, 337

Is there a general factor of preference for complexity? by E. E. Rump, 346

Post-retinal storage? Some further observations on Parks' camel as seen through the eye of a needle by R. N. Haber and Linda Sue Nathanson, 349

Tracking afterimage shrinkage during fading by G. T. Gardner and Daniel J. Weintraub, 361

Eye movements and decrement in the Müller-Lyer illusion by L. Festinger, C. W. White, and M. R. Allyn, 376

Visual form discrimination: Multidimensional analyses by D. R. Brown and M. H. Andrews, 401

Determinants of subjective novelty by D. E. Berlyne and L. C. C. Parham, 415

Decrement of the Müller-Lyer illusion with saccadic and tracking eye movements by C. A. Burnham, 424

PUPILLARY RESPONSES

The wide-angle reflection eye camera for visual choice and pupil size by N. H. Mackworth, 32

Effects on pupil size of manual and verbal indicators of cognitive task fulfilment by H. M. Simpson and A. Paivio, 185

Effect of verbalization and two different modes of experiencing on pupil size by N. Bernick and M. Oberlander, 327

HEARING
Mechanisms of aural encoding: I. Distinctive features for consonants by R. A. Cole, R. N. Haber, and B. D. Sales, 281
Discrimination of simultaneous and successive tones by D. G. Doehring, 293
The perception of hesitation in spontaneous speech by J. G. Martin and Winifred Strange, 427
Behavioral and electrophysiological measures of click audibility compared in the cat by F. B. Colavita, 462

SOMESTHESIS
Warm and cool thresholds as a function of rate of stimulus temperature change by D. R. Kenshalo, C. E. Holmes, and P. B. Wood, 81
Some factors affecting the spatial discrimination of vibrotactile patterns by R. D. Gilson, 131
Intermittent vs continuous stimulation in the development of kinesthetic spatial aftereffects by S. H. Lovibond and D. McNicol, 220
Stimulus contrast in tactile resolution by A. Carmon, 241
The kinesthetic spatial aftereffect as a function of the angular displacement of the joints of the arm by G. Singer, F. V. Flanagan, and J. K. Collins, 249
Comparison of sensitivity for the perception of bodily rotation and the oculogyral illusion by B. Clark and J. D. Stewart, 253

TASTE
A structure common to sweet-evoking compounds by E. Dzendolet, 65
Water taste in man by Linda M. Bartoshuk, 69

REACTION TIME
Information and discriminability as determinants of absolute judgment choice reaction time by M. E. Doherty, 1
Reaction time to different wavelengths at various luminances by Joan Diehl Pollack, 17
The interaction of veracity and syntax in the processing of sentences by J. Mehler and P. Carey, 109
Effects of time and event uncertainty upon sequential information processing by I. H. Bernstein, R. R. Blake, and M. H. Hughes, 177
Verbal reaction times to hues vs hue names and forms vs form names by B. Gholson and R. H. Hohle, 191

ATTENTION AND VIEWING
Subjective pictorial information and visual search by I. Pollack and D. Spence, 41
Uncertainty and the orientation reaction by D. E. Berlyne and Donna M. Borsa, 77
Visual orientation during and after lateral head, body, and trunk tilt by N. J. Wade, 215
Visual search time based on stochastic serial and parallel processings by T. Ueno, 229

SPACE PERCEPTION
Perceived angle of oscillatory motion by W. Epstein, G. Jansson, and G. Johansson, 12
Multidimensional mapping of visual space with real and simulated stars by T. Indow, 45
Magnitude estimates of distance based on object-size by G. Stanley (Vol. 2, pp. 289-290)
Comment by J. M. Foley, 80
Reply by G. Stanley, 80
The influence of the equidistance tendency on depth shifts resulting from an interocular delay in stimulation by E. R. Wist, 89
The growth of the equidistance tendency over time by H. Lodge and E. R. Wist, 97
Perceptual separability and spatial models by R. Hyman and A. Well, 161
The role of eye movements in the perception of visually induced motion by L. Brosgole, R. M. Cristal, and O. Carpenter, 166
Perceived target displacement as a function of field movement and asymmetry by R. C. Sugarman and W. Cohen, 169
Visual movement discrimination by W. Keller and R. A. Kinchla, 233
Depth, size and distance in stereoscopic vision by J. M. Foley, 265
Tables of d' for detection and localization by R. L. Hershman and D. Small, 321
Apparent head position as a basis for a visual aftereffect of prolonged head tilt by N. J. Wade and R. H. Day, 324

RECOGNITION
The recognition of geometrically transformed text by P. A. Kolers, 57
Stimulus recognizability judgments as a function of the utility of physical dimensions in recognition-discrimination problems by G. A. Forsyth and D. R. Brown, 85
Interocular non-independence by T. S. Greenspon and C. W. Eriksen, 93
A different look at perceptual defense for taboo words by B. D. Sales and R. N. Haber, 156
Recognition of alphabetic characters during voluntary eye movements by W. R. Uttal and Pamela Smith, 257
Information, run structure and binary pattern complexity by P. C. Vitz, 275
Perceiving and encoding two kinds of item-information by H. Buschke, 331
Some syntactic determinants of sentential complexity, II: Verb structure by J. A. Fodor, M. Garrett, and T. G. Bever, 453
